

To Whom It May Concern:

I write in unreserved recommendation of the services of Design Dock.

We came to the Design Dock as a "website ignorant" potential customer with the usual vague idea of wanting an exciting new website, that both looked good and was easy to operate.

We have received back a website that exceeds all of our expectations and has consistently received the positive compliments of both vendors and applicants alike.

We are particularly pleased that the process of development was both painless and to the timescale specified – indeed any slight delays being entirely our fault in not providing the necessary information!

Yours faithfully
